Calcium Therapy

Alternative to Gum Surgery

Periodontal [gum] disease is common in many adult Americans, and this dreaded condition is characterized by symptoms such as:

- (1) Bleeding gums upon brushing
- (2) Continual bad taste in the mouth
- (3) Red puffy gums around the teeth
- (4) Sore, hyper-sensitive gums and teeth
- (5) Rapid shrinkage of the gums

Often surgery, deep scraping or curettage, which deal only with the symptoms and not the causes, are used to treat periodontal disease.

However, there is a non-surgical, non-invasive approach to treating gum infections that is safe, pain-free and long lasting. It is called Calcium Therapy and is effective in reducing bleeding, soothing sore gums, strengthening bones, tightening teeth and controlling bad breath.

Even in circumstances where you have been told your condition was "hopeless," calcium therapy results in stronger and whiter teeth and gums that return to natural health. Calcium strengthens teeth and bones, reduces decay and calculus and whitens teeth; zinc stimulates enzyme activity for healing of the gums; saliva works better than toothpastes for cleaning teeth. It is low in salt, anti-microbial, and an excellent "buffer" for the entire mouth, according to Archives of Internal Medicine.

For over three decades thousands of patients have benefited from the "Calcium Method of Periodontal Therapy." People like it; it is cost efficient, and the therapy prevents lifelong dental problems.

We also take a preventative approach with regular treatments either monthly or several times a year. These treatments are easy, fast, safe, economical, and the results are remarkable. Calcium doses are measured, placed in the problem area, and monitored.

Ask us about our Calcium/Zinc Toothbrush that needs no water or toothpaste - just saliva, and gives you a slight calcium treatment whenever you want, or wherever you are. We also have a home Self-care Kit that is available for personal use as a long-term maintenance therapy. The Kit contains the C-Z Toothbrush, the Oral-Cal Mouth Rinse, and the Home Tray System. These are mild treatments of the teeth and gums that will last several months.
